A. Summers on Saturday, near Meirose, Polk county, and was brought to Statesville at 10:50 Sunday morning, and lodged in jail. About six hundred people, most of whom were, from the Cool Springs neighborhood, had been watching the incoming trains during Saturday and Sunday for the purpose of capturing the negro culprit and lynching him. Mrs. Beaver was a most estimable young woman. Her husband had left home early Friday morning for a busines trip to Statesville, and upon his return late that night could not find any trace of his wife. Her morning's work was yet unfinished. A searching party was organized and the body soon found in an old well which had not been used for some time. The head had been beaten into a jelly on the back and had been crushed on the right side. The hands were badly scratched in an evident struggle with the murderer.

The physicians testify to evidences of unspeakable cruelty. Roseboro, who stands charged with the crime, lives only a short distance from the Beaver home, and it is believed that he saw Mr. Beaver leave about daylight on Friday morning, and that he at once committed the awful deed. Everything was very orderly. Men had heavy winter overceats on all day, although it was the first day of August. The chief topic of conversation was the terrible calamity by lightning that took place just above here at Good Hope Church, in Apomattox county.

It was rumored that Mr. Nat Morris, who was injured by the lightning stroke, died last night. He is a citzen of this county. The house of Mr. W. B. Davidson, of this county, was partly blown and other damage done by the same storm.

The Republicans have notices out for meeting sith of August at the courthouse to nominate candidates for all the district offices of the county, as well as the House of Delegates and for the State Senate.

JUDGE MARSHALL MAY BE CHOSEN

Cyclone Jim Mentioned for the House of Delegates.

The nomination for the House of Delegates for the district composed of the counties of Alleghany and Craig is said to be going beggins, so far as Alleghany county is concerned. It is understood that Craig will be allowed the delegate this term, and that among those mentioned for the place is Hon. James W. Marshall, exjudge, ex-Congressman and ex-member of the Constitutional Case vention, the "Cyclone Jim" of other days, as he was known in his palmy days on the stump. It is not known that Judge Marshall would accept, but many of his friends in this city are hopeful that he will. Hon. H. I. Gravatt, the present member of the house for Alleghany, is a Republican, but made many friends during his service here. He will be a candidate for re-election, it is said. Now that Craig county, with its staunch Democratic constituency, has been added to the district, Mr. Garrett's defeat is considered probable, for Craig, with its normal Democratic majority of 250, will more than offset the Republican majority in Alleghany, reduced as it is by the new electorate.

Postmaster Wray T. Knight left yesterday morning accompanied by his family for Crockett's Springs, Montgomery where they will spend several probably before disposing of all the business for the summer. Now that the special taxes on tobacco and oleomargarine have been collected and the business at the close of the fiscal year in the revenue department is about disposed of, work in the local offices has settled down to the usual routine. There is always enough to keep the force busy, during the office hours, and during the busy season to work them overtime.

The postmasters of the United States holding first-class offices will hold their annual convention in Boston, Mass., beginning to-day. The question of establishing a parcels post is one of the livotopics of discussion. Postmaster Knight will not attend this year.

The Richmond postoffice will be represented at the fourth annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Ceires, to be held at Nashville, Tenn., September 7th to the 11th. This far ahead it cannot be stated just how many or who will go from this city. The convention will hold its sessions in the handsome State Capitol, and an elaborate programme of entertainment has been arranged. Nashville is preparing to do itself proud.

wave of "old time religion" song was wafted out on the summer night's air. There were such selections as "Halleyah to His Name." "Come. Thou Fount of Bverty Blessing." "In the Sweet, By and By." "Jis the Old Time Religion." Professor Pugh sang with great sweetness and expression "Under His Wing."

The sermon of Doctor Munhall last evening was from the text, St. John's Gospel 5th chapter and 4th verse: "And ye will not come to me that ye might have life."

The sermon was a superb effort and help the the closest attention of the large audience. He stressed the points that redemption has been fully provided for every soul, and that he who wish to do so do not be ussified and saved; that repentance is not regret, or helping, but it is made to be a suited and saved; that repentance is not regret, or helping, but it is made to be ussified and saved; that repentance is not regret, or helping turn from sin to accept Christ; conversion is turning from sin to the acceptance of the interminant of the converted at this great meeting. The Doctor is a close reasoner and a theologian of evident ability. He has no patience with "the higher criticism" and preaches the old orthodox theology with refreshing vigor. His points are emphasized and reinforced by the use of telling illustrations. He had the platform folks, preachers and laymen shouting halleuyah and amen lustily last night while he eloquently unfurled the banner of the cross and procalimed repentance, conversion, faith and salvation. It was a great "old time religion" spiritual feast and was evidently greatly enjoyed.

S. Wilkins Mathews, who has represented that county for several terms, has opthat it may be ascertained if the law has been violated, and if so what appro-priate measures may be taken in the premises. There is a statute which pro-hibits contracts for government supplies being made directly or indirectly with a member of Congress, and this was the basis of the investigation by the War Department. position for the nomination this time in member of the General Assembly is mor generally and favorably known in this city than Mr. Mathews, and it is doubt-ful that there is a more influential memmember of Congress, and this was the basis of the investigation by the War Department.

Colonel Darlington, of the Inspector-General's department, was directed by Secretary Root to make an investigation of the whole matter, which he did, taking testimony and cubmitting a report as to the facts in the case. This report and the testimony was referred to Judge Advocate-General Davis, who made an extensive review and submitted an opinion to Secretary Root.

CASE MADE OUT.

In the course of his report and opinion General Davis says a case falling within the prohibition of the statute is clearly shown in the testimony, which, in the opinion of this office, charges the department with the performance of the duty set, and it is, therefore, recommended that a demand be made by the Quartermaster-General upon the firm of Littauer Brothers for the repayment of the contract of December 7, 1893, with Lyon, as extended, in accordance with its terms by the quartermaster's department, General Davis says that the fact that a member of Congress was active manager of a firm selling to government contractors should liave put the officer charged with making of such contracts on his guard against attempted violation of the statute.

"It was," he says, "the first duty of an officer charged with making purchase in behalf of the United States to see that the articles procured were of standard quality, and that the process paid were reasonable. The testimony elicited during ber of the House than the silent man from the Eastern Shore. Upon the recommendations of this commission will depend what action the General Assembly will take on the various pending oyster bills. The coamission has already made a preliminary trip over the oyster waters, and will start again August 11th for the real business for which it was constituted, and will probably be gone a month.
